Renault chief executive Carlos Ghosn and Nissan president Hiroto Saikawa met on Monday at a resort in the French city of Biarritz and discussed a plan to merge the Japanese manufacturer with the French automaker, the report said. Their meeting coincided with the signing of the biggest foreign investment agreement in Japan since the Fukushima earthquake in 2011. Reuters A look back at the highlights of the past year at Nissan and Renault that have affected the car industry A look back at the highlights of the past year at Nissan and Renault that have affected the car industry The winners and losers of the year at Nissan and Renault French carmakers Renault and Nissan have been taken aback by the global economic turmoil in recent months. The two countries have been affected by the global slowdown and sluggish demand for their products. However, executives at the French carmaker said the situation may not be as bleak as previously thought. Renault Group chief executive Carlos Ghosn said the global slowdown, especially in the US, has been "unexpected and very damaging". The French carmaker has seen its market share shrink from 20 per cent to around 9 per cent in the past three years.
